Dear members of the VILNIUS TECH Student Representation

I am a fourth-year Aviation Mechanics Engineering student and an active member of the AGAI Student Representation. I am running for the Control Commission because I see the importance of this body for the stability and development of our organization. At this stage of my life, I still want to contribute to the growth of this wonderful community we share.

In my opinion, the Control Commission may currently appear to some as a strict and intimidating body that people approach only in very extreme situations. I would like to contribute to changing this perception, so that it would be seen not as something that causes fear, but rather as a group of people focused on support, mediation, and open communication. My goal is for faculty representations to feel safe when reaching out, to know that they will be heard and understood objectively, regardless of the scale or importance of the issue.

Having experience in public relations, human resources, as well as in organizing trainings and camps, I have encountered situations that required balancing different opinions, resolving conflicts, and strengthening the community. I have learned that trust is built not through formal authority, but through openness, clear communication, and respect for every side.

I believe that the Control Commission can become a mechanism for strengthening trust across the entire VILNIUS TECH Student Representation. I am motivated to contribute to building such an image and to responsibly fulfill the duties entrusted to me.

Sincerely,

Kipras Petraitis
